Purpose of the project: To contribute promoting the socio-economic status of Dalits through increasing their access in land and housing rights.

1. Current Context (maximum 500 words)

The newly promulgated constitution-2015 under the federal democratic republic Nepal has ensured that every citizen has equal opportunities in civil and political as well as economic, social and cultural rights. The article of new constitution (Article-29) has clearly stated that nobody are compelled to be engaged in forced labours such as exploitation, human trafficking as well as slavery system. Such deeds are liable to be punished by law in constitutional point of view. Every citizen has identical civil liberties for consuming the rights. Although there are legal and constitutional provisions, poor and disadvantaged groups in the community are still deprived from their fundamental human rights. Dalits, women, children and land-poor are not only excluded due to gender, classical and caste based discrimination in the society but also they are also victim of exploitation, forced labours and modern slavery.

A domestic outbreak of COVID-19 commenced in May, prolonging the lockdown and imposing substantial human and further economic costs. As a result of the impact of COVID-19, GDP growth in Nepal is estimated at 1.8 percent in FY2020, compared to 7 percent in FY2019. Growth in the service sector is now estimated at 1 percent, the lowest since FY2002, while growth in the industrial sector is estimated at 3.2 percent, a four-year low, due to the deceleration in overall growth. The corona-virus (covid-19) has also impacted Nepal. Due to the lock-down, all the industries, educational institutions, transportation, tourism were fully closed and human life has become more suffering. It has impacted the income generation of whole people for their livelihood options. Particularly Dalit communities who are engaged in daily wage work are facing the problem of joining their hands to mouth and also suffering from starvation.

There is new development in science and technology. Similarly, the average temperature is increasing by 1.8 to 4 degree in global basis through which we have to face great challenges of covid-19 pandemic.

Similarly, the government of Nepal is eager to implement the fundamental rights by formulating relevant bylaws and procedures. The government of Nepal has also initiated to solve the problem of land by forming land problem solving commission. The commission has provisioned to provide the land to landless Dalits. The special authority has been given to this commission as per law. The federal government has also planned to participate Dalits in regards to operate the land bank under ministry of land management, cooperative and poverty alleviation targeting to Dalits.

2. Organization's Previous Interventions (maximum 350 words)

RDN Nepal has 2 decades of experience in working with Dalits, women, land-poor as well as forced labours; freed Haliyas, ex-Kamaiyas and Harawa-Charawa in the areas of deepening democracy, human rights and rule of law. Since the time of its establishment, more than 25 projects have been implemented with the support of diversified funding partners/donors. Out of them, 9 projects are related to human rights and rule of law, 5 are connected to strengthening civil society organizations and 6 projects relates with community activism. In line with the prior experience mentioned above, the key past and on-going activities focusing the area of human rights and rule of law, community activism as well as strengthening civil society interaction.

The achievements of the projects that RDN Nepal has successfully implemented are outlined as below:

- The advocacy campaign of the organization contributed for the declaration of the untouchability Free State. The innovative campaigns such as mock Dalit parliament, alternative municipality and district councils sensitized policy makers.
- RDN established its network with various national and international alliances and movement for the collective advocacy to establish the socio-economic and political rights of Dalits
- RDN Nepal has proactively initiated for the submission of alternative report on scientific reservation, Dalit and freed Haliya rights caravan, declaration for untouchability freed state, concept of untouchability crime watch center, Dalit rights day, Dalit rights decade which have been fully adopted by government of Nepal.
- The involvement of RDN Nepal remained in constitution building process in Nepal. Similarly, it creatively organized various debates and dialogues on restructuring of the state and facilitated for integrated and solidarity movements being strong civil society organization with the presence in all 77 district of Nepal.
- RDN Nepal is continuously lobbying and advocating for the effective implementation of the constitutional and legal provisions through the empowerment of Dalit communities in Nepal. The government of Nepal emancipated the Haliya system in Nepal as RDN Nepal has been working for the rights of ex-bonded labors since the time of its establishment.
- More than 100 Dalit leaders/activists from RDN Nepal have been represented in local, provincial and federal government mechanism

3. Problem Statement (maximum 500 words)

In Nepal, landlessness is a deeply entrenched and widespread problem, rooted in a long history of feudal land governance, political complacency and nepotism, and a heavily taxed, yet ultimately dependent and weak, farmer class. The resultant skewed landownership patterns were compounded by a deeply discriminatory and strictly hierarchical society that excluded women, ethnic minorities and tribal groups, and especially those of low-caste (particularly Dalits).

Despite reforms that began in fits and spurts in the early 1950s to dismantle the system, lack of political will and any mechanism for oversight means that the same power dynamics that were in place two centuries ago persist today. Land ownership is a key indicator of identity, power, wealth, and political access. Yet up to 25% of Nepal's population is estimated to be landless or near-landless: the bottom 47% of agricultural households control only 15% of agricultural land; the top 5% control more than 37%.⁵ Documentation of the human rights consequence of landlessness reveals a wide scope of impact: landlessness in Nepal is characterized by exploitative labor conditions for tenant farmers and near bonded-labor conditions for bonded labourers; freed Ka as recently as 2002 and 2008; frequent, arbitrary, and often violent evictions; lack of access to traditional resources (e.g., fisheries and forests) for tribal and indigenous groups; lack of access to water and food resources; inability to access police and the judiciary; and deep discrimination against women, Dalits, ethnic and religious minorities, and tribal groups who make up a disproportionate proportion of landless people..

A Land right is also issue of human rights and social justice. Now it has become a compulsory subject-matter to be addressing the socio-economic and political transformation of marginalized groups in the society. Mostly, a total of 13.2% population of Dalits in Nepal is deprived from land rights. The data shows that 23% Dalits in mountain region of Nepal are fully landless who are suppressed and oppressed for a long time. Similarly, 44% Dalits in Terai region are landless. 90% Dalits do not have sufficient land for their livelihood option. In addition 18% Dalits do not have legal documents to establish their ownership in land and housing. As per the study 46.5% Madesi Dalits are landless.

The article of new constitution (40 of (5) and (6) has provisioned the land to landless Dalits community. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) has pointed-out the housing rights as fundamental human rights. Although, there are legal and constitutional provisions, but still it is not being implemented after 5 years of promulgation of the constitution. In addition, the government of Nepal has revised its land policy (8th revision) that has prioritized Dalit community.

The major challenges are as to; the political parties and duty bears do not have willing power to implement the land policy in practice and they do not have also proper monitoring mechanism..Dalits communities who are discriminated for a long time are poorly aware of their rights and claiming procedure and mechanisms, lack information and not well organized, and isolated.

4. Available Opportunity (maximum 350 words)
